

What Our Professional Readers Say About REFS....

"REFS is excellent. It is also an invaluable part of my daily research needs."

Robert Cole
Deputy Business Editor, The Times

"REFS stands out for the reliability and comparability of its data provision. It clearly understands what investors need and produces it in a legible and accessible format – an essential 'bible' for investment professionals and everybody with an interest in corporate UK."

Julian Lakin
Pereire ToD – Stockbrokers

"Extremely useful. Company REFS is the first place I look for fundamental company information."

Simon Watkins
Deputy Editor, Financial Mail on Sunday

"The only problem I have is trying to stop my colleagues here from borrowing and not returning it! It is much admired by the UK investment team, who like its format and accuracy of information."

Jamie Hambro
J O Hambro Capital Management Group Limited – Fund Managers

"This is an invaluable publication. There is no easier way to access the basics on any company than Company REFS. It is also astonishingly accurate."

Roger Hardman
Hardman & Co – Corporate Research Company

"Private investors who seriously want to make profits cannot afford to be without REFS. I consult it every day. The company information is presented in an easy-to-assimilate way and the analysis tables provide background assistance to make well-informed and hopefully profitable decisions."

Mr Terry Bond
Director of ProShare Investment Clubs

"The great thing about REFS is that it cuts out all the Investor Relations and management rubbish by showing the figures."

Mr Ted Bowden
